

Creative Writing

Write a story about how you meet Tom and the things that happen.

Think about:

How you meet one another (perhaps in this story you already know one another).

The setting (where you meet).

How you could describe Tom.

Tom's first words to you. Is he pleased to see you?

Now think about what could happen next. Perhaps there's an adventure or Tom helps you with a difficult problem.

Next, think about how your story can move forward. Who will you meet? What will you do? How many problems will you have to solve?

Finally, think about how your story will end. Will everything happily? Will all of the problems be solved?

You might like to plan out your story using the planner below. Use each box to draft a section of your story.
